Prepared by:

Aysegul Tinay, Secretary

Report Highlights:

Due to its large population, growing economy and booming tourism sector, there are important market opportunities for food and agricultural products in Turkey. Despite these opportunities, cracking the Turkish market is difficult. Attending on one of Turkey's major food or agriculture trade shows can be an important first step to entering the market. The largest food shows are held annually in Istanbul and Antalya.

SECTION III. Other Promotional Activities (e.g. instore and menu promotions, product seminars, sales missions and other activities).

Promotional activities for U.S. Rice:

The U.S.A. Rice Federation contracts with a local company, Promedia, in Turkey to conduct promotional activities for U.S. Rice. These include publication of over 100 articles and recipes.

In-store promotions for US rice occur in large supermarkets and hypermarkets in Istanbul and other big cities like Izmir, Ankara and Bursa. Promedia prepares product promotion and distributes brochures for each event. In addition, a rice cooking contest is organized every year to promote U.S. Rice. The contest is successfully held on April 11, 2005 in Istanbul this year.

Promotional activities for U.S. Soy:

Promedia is also conducting the following services for the promotion of soy foods.

Trade Servicing: This service includes the preparation and distribution of press releases to the media about soy food and soy health benefits. It also includes the publication of monthly bulletin in Turkish with a hotline distributed to over 1200 target companies and industries in Turkey and technical assistance to major U.S. soybeans users and buyers.

Baking trials: Promedia brings experts and organizes baking demonstrations in major bakeries in Turkey with soy flour to show the economic benefit of the inclusion of up to 3% soy flour in the daily bread.

Workshops: Seminars and workshops in collaboration with soy food suppliers in different cities are organized. Promedia brings speakers and experts from U.S.A. and from different parts of the world to introduce soy food products (mainly soy oil, textured soy proteins, soy flour) to the audience. These events include distribution of brochures and booklets and live demonstrations on how they can effectively include soy proteins in their recipes.

Dates:

Baking trials take place during the workshops held once or twice a year and last 3 to 4 days and are organized between September-August each year. For detailed information on the workshops you can directly contact the Promedia at
